

Atlantic Sentinels Official Errata and Clarifications

as of May 6th 2024

[5.2.4] (addition) – If playing the Canadian Escort Group C3, it does not get the extra 40,000 tons added for victory conditions, as it is never withdrawn like the other Canadian groups.

[7.1.3] (clarification) – Weather is rolled before escorts or U-boats are placed.

[7.1.3] (addition) – Under the Attack Summary section (top right of page 14) it states players continue the Detection/Attack Cycle until the U-Boat is sunk, scuttled, or is undetected. However, players may end this at any time. This may be wise if playing with the Optional Rule [12.7] (Limited Depth Charges.)

[7.1.6] (clarification) – A U-boat automatically attacks a Straggler, day or night.

[7.3] (clarification) – The first paragraph references a Chart [B8]. It is on the back page of the rulebook.

[8.0] (correction) – Escort movement – Only a single -1 drm is applied to Chart B3 for escort movement, even if several move. [7.1.3] is correct. The example of play on page 20 is incorrect on just that detail.

Chart [B4] (correction) – The result of “12” should say “5 Hits” instead of “5 Set.”

Chart [B4] (clarification) – The -1 drm for the River Class is for River Class FFs that may arrive 5/42+ as reinforcements, not for Canadian starting River DDs.

Chart [C1] (correction) – The result of “**” says to fire 2 extra torpedoes. That would be for a Type IX U-boat – Type VII U-boats only have 1 aft tube and therefore would only fire 1 extra torpedo.

Chart [T-1B] (correction) – As should be obvious, this is the small convoy side, the two central rectangles should say “Small Convoy.” The large convoy side is Chart T-1A.

Chart [U-1] (correction) – Damage boxes for “Electric Engines” should read “Electric Motors”.

Counter Sheet (correction) – Two Canadian River Class destroyer counters were omitted due to the designer’s error. If needed, simply use any other destroyer counter, such as the B, E, or F class counters. Notice that the River Class counter included in the game is for the possible British-built, brand new River class frigates, not the older River DDs.
